

Sunflowers are still Yellow at Night

Block B

Welcome back fellow quilters. I'm hope you've all had a great week and stayed safe. This week we are on to block B. I'm hoping this block will spark your curiosity and get you excited to stitch along with me. I've tried to create an easy quilt suitable for a confident beginner to advanced quilter with stunning results at the end. Just take your time and stitch along.

Block B

From the mid blue fabric cut 24 4.5 x 8.5 inch rectangles.

From the dark blue fabric cut 48 2.5 x 8.5 inch rectangles.

From the remaining yellow fabric cut 96 2.5 x 2.5 inch squares

Mark a line diagonally on the reverse side of all 96 yellow squares

Pin a yellow square to two corners of the mid blue rectangle as pictured.

Sew along the drawn lines then trim a  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch out from the sewn line

Press the first two corners out and then repeat with the second two corners

Going back to a  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch seam sew a dark blue 2.5 x 8.5 inch strip to each long side of the mid blue / yellow unit.

Press all seams towards the dark blue strips

TIP: Check your first block is 8.5 x 8.5 inch square and make adjustments to your  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch seam if needed before sewing all 24 blocks.

Make a total of 24 blocks.

Happy sewing.
